Glaucoma detection clinic

A free one-day glaucoma detection clinic for West End residents will be held 3-6 p.m. March 19 at the First Presbyterian Church, 869 N. Euclid Ave., Upland. Sponsored by Upland Host Lions Club and coordinated by the Southern California Society for the Prevention of Blindness, the clinic will be staffed by volunteer ophthalmologists from the Upland and Pomona Valley and volunteer medical staff personnel under the direction of Dr. Donald E. White of Upland.

Glaucoma causes approximately one-third of all blindness in adults over 35 years of age. It can be present with no marked symptoms. If diagnosed and properly treated by medication or as a last resort, by surgery, loss of sight can be halted, according to Harry Rohrbach, Upland Host Lions Club chairman for the clinic.

The Society for the Prevention of Blindness urges every person 35 years of age and over and those with a history of glaucoma in their families to have a test for glaucoma each year. Most significant of the glaucoma screening procedures is measuring the pressure within the eyeball with the use of a tonometer. Anaesthetic drops make the procedure completely painless, Rohrbach said.

Council upholds gas station approval

Despite a petition from several Mountain Avenue gas station owners, the Upland City Council Monday night let stand its approval for the construction of a self-service station at the southwest corner of Mountain Avenue and Ninth Street.

Construction of the proposed station "will force us out of business," said Dave Parker, owner of Parker's Gulf Station, Mountain Avenue and Arrow Highway. "There is no way a full-service station can compete with a self-service station," he added.

Jim Keiber, owner of the proposed station, said the council's original approval should not be set aside because all legal procedures were followed and he already had spent money for grading studies and encumbered his company to install gasoline tanks and equipment.

"I am in deep," he said and added, "We have paid taxes for 10 years and feel we have a right to develop the property."

Councilman Hal Bailin commented that competing station owners face "hard economic fact and some very real problems."

But, he said, it isn't the council's duty to limit competition.

Mountain Avenue already has "plenty" of gas stations, commented Councilman George Gibson. With additional stations, stations that aren't doing well will deteriorate, he added.

John McCarthy, serving as major in the absence of Abner Haldeman, said the public hearing Feb. 18 had been publicized and had gone through normal procedure.

No opposition to the self-service station was expressed at the original hearing.

City Attorney Donald Maroney said the council could revoke the approval for the self-service station even though the station owner has made a "great deal of commitment."

"The test is whether construction has been made on the site," commented Maroney. The council declined to revoke its previous approval.

In other action the council: — Approved an ordinance requiring all billboards be removed from Upland by Feb. 4, 1985 and rejected a move by Councilman Bailin to set the same removal period for nonconforming signs. Presently nonconforming signs must be removed within five years after a business is sold but can remain in existence as long as the business is owned by the same person.

— Set a public hearing 7 p.m. April 7 for residents affected by the 11th Avenue-Raymond Street Improvement District to comment on the price being charged them for street improvements. The district includes 11th Avenue between Seventh and Eighth streets and Raymond Street west of 11th Avenue.

— Adopted the Subdivision Map Act of 1974 under emergency procedures. Upland's previous codes have been superseded by California state law and could not be enforced unless readopted, according to Maroney.

— Authorized expenditures of $2,170 to remove "elderly" citrus trees on a future park site at the northeast corner of 20th Street and San Antonio Avenue. City Manager Lee Travers said the trees will become a fire hazard in the near future and noted that the removal cost is cheaper because trees in an adjacent property will be removed at the same time.

TALENTED TWIRLER — Pam Bradford will be one of 130 performers at Sierra Vista School's free talent show 7 p.m. March 13 at Upland Elementary School auditorium, 601 N. Fifth St.

Upland artist draws 'beauty'

By Lynne Locke

"I really want to create and show beauty to open up the meaning of life way beyond the scientific meaning we're trapped in," said Upland artist Marilyn Blizzard.

A recurring theme in her works is the spiritual nature of people which she shows by painting them with wings. Angels also appear often in her paintings, peering through windows or hovering over the people.

"I consider myself a Christian artist," she said, but added that doesn't mean she paints Sunday school subjects or Biblical scenes.

Mrs. Blizzard started by creating shaped paintings to be hung on the ceiling. The figures included a flying child and a woman holding her son.

Now she says, "It's unnecessary to put paintings on the ceiling to show flight and space. It is more significant to put wings on figures to make people aware of the spiritual world."

The ceiling paintings evolved into stuffed sculptures which she sold through her "Flying Doll" studio in Claremont. She painted portrait faces on the angels and then stuffed them.

The angels are dressed in intricately fashioned clothing using new materials as well as old clothing and old lace from Goodwill stores.

Some of the angels have splashes of aqua and purple to show the bright and dark sides of people or the light and shadows of life, she said.

The angels have to be hung carefully so they have the right sculptural form, said Mrs. Blizzard, who recently hung one for George and Phyllis Godlin of Alta Loma. Mrs. Blizzard discovered the angels were "too ar out" to sell well except to poets, writers and artists. Children loved the angels, too, she noted.

The combination of sculptured and flat forms was never really successful, said Mrs. Blizzard, who is now concentrating on oil paintings.

She paints portraits but not the conventional, photographic poses. "It is more important for the painting to be a work of an art than a portrait," she commented.

"We need to look at ideally beautiful things because there is so little beauty around us to help get beyond superficial to spiritual beauty," she said.

At one time she painted people with animals' heads "I never did quite understand (the meaning)," she said. "Maybe it had to do with the person's emotional nature." One man painted with a lion's head was "quite elegant looking," she noted.

Sometimes she arranges a still life to work from and then adds figures from photographs or her imagination.

After painting small studies, she paints the full-sized painting which may take several months to finish. She said she can only work three hours at a time on a painting and always prays for guidance so the painting is inspired rather than just labor.

Mrs. Blizzard said all artists hope that people will appreciate their work, but her main goal is to create "something really worthwhile."

She earned a bachelor of science degree from Massachusetts School of Art and a master of fine arts from Claremont Graduate School. She has taught at Claremont Graduate School and Chaffey College.

March 7-8

'Godspell' to air at Chaffey College

By Lynne Locke

The Chaffey College Theatre Arts Department will present "Godspell," a rock music version of "The Gospel of St. Matthew," 8:30 p.m. March 7-8 and 13-15 in the campus little theater.

The play by Stephen Schwartz puts the teachings of Jesus into modern language and updates the parables, according to director C. A. Sheppard. The play "shows that what was said in the Bible is still relevant," he noted.

Today's language makes the meaning and experience immediate, Sheppard said. "The grief at the crucifixion is doubly devastating because of the joy and laughter preceding it. 'Godspell' is an act of faith, a belief in God, people and possibility."

Sheppard chose to stage "Godspell" because the student actors can relate easily to the characters' ages and life styles.

He said the actors exaggerate their own personalities rather than creating new characters. Students find it difficult to play themselves because there are no outside sources to help them understand their actions.

The 10 actors perform all the parts in the play including singers and dancers as well as major and minor characters. Sheppard said the actors make big physical changes so the audience understands that they have changed from one character to another.

In most musicals, singers and dancers have a chance to rest after their numbers, but the "Godspell" cast is on stage continuously. Sheppard said the cast completed an extensive physical training program to build up their endurance.

Another problem was to have spontaneous choreography rather than set dance routines, he noted. The actors have to improvise without repeating gestures or routines. Cast members are "unbelievably adaptable" and "very creative," he added.

"Godspell" is suitable for school-age children who enjoy the music, dancing and color, said Sheppard. Special effects include a miniature light show.

"Godspell" is usually set on a playground. The Chaffey production has a group of actors coming together in an abandoned theater. Sheppard said the theater setting provides an interesting new slant without changing the basic elements of the play.

The cast includes Jack Davis of Upland as Jesus, Robert L. Whitley of Cucamonga as Judas, Denise Anne Damico and Mike Larkins of Upland, Betty Raya of Cucamonga, and Greg Hinrichsen and Mary Ann Mitrany of Alta Loma.

Others are Bill Korth, Chino; Leslie Anne Abernathy, Fontana; and Julie Ann Martin, Pomona. The band includes John Harrelson and Tom Franks, guitar; Lonnie Gallucci, percussion; Gustavo Gil, electric organ and piano; and Edwina Chin, piano.

Tickets are adults $2 and students and children $1.50. Call 987-1745 for reservations.

Chaffey planetarium show

Planet hunt continues

"The Strange Case of Planet X" is slated for Tuesday and March 18 in Chaffey College's Daniel B. Milliken Planetarium.

The 7:30 p.m. presentation will feature the search for four new planets over the past 200 years. Each was a "Planet X," an hypothesis to start with, merely a twinkle in the astronomer's eye.

Two of the four Planets X were identified and designated in the late 1800s as Uranus and Neptune. A third Planet X was mathematically projected in 1930 as Pluto.

The hunt still goes on for the very edge of the solar system — that planet must remain an "X."

Two more planetarium shows are scheduled for the balance of the academic year: "Light Breaks All Records" for April 8 and April 22 and "Dr. Hubble's Special Galaxies," May 6-20.

There is no charge for admission to these shows. Reservations may be made by calling 987-1737 or 822-4484, ext. 275.

'Unhappy Witch' is child's play

"Annabelle Broom — The Unhappy Witch," produced by ANTA West will play a single performance at The Claremont Colleges' Garrison Theater, Saturday, 10:30 a.m.

Darlene Amarie, longtime puppeteer and children's entertainer, stars in this charming tale of a most unconventional witch who finds it impossible to resist doing good deeds. She even befriends lost children much to the horror of her "sister" witches who prepare to thicken the plot.

"Annabelle Broom" unlike most children's theatre fare, boasts a fully professional cast and marks the recently reorganized ANTA West's (American National Theater and Academy) first venture in commercial production.

Tickets are available at Central Box Office, Bridges Auditorium, 4th & College Way, Claremont or at Garrison Theater one hour before the performance. For more information call 826-4523.

Schools, cities

March 13 will be musical day

March 13 will be a very musical day in this area, judging from the number of official proclamations declaring it so.

The cities of Ontario and Montclair, at the request of Ontario - Montclair School District music consultant Carl Schafer, have issued separate proclamations declaring March 13, "Music In Our Schools Day" in their cities, and encouraging citizens to support the program.

Ontario - Montclair School District adopted a resolution to the same effect at the last board of trustees meeting, adding a rededication "to the maintenance of a music program" in the OM District, which is "relevant to the needs of the children," and which will "positively influence each child."

A common statement in the three actions was that "Music is a powerful aesthetic force that dignifies the realm of feeling by merging intellect and emotion," in the search for a desirable way of life.

The reason for this area's highlighting of music can be traced to the Music Educators National Conference (MENC), the national organization which declared March 13, "Music In Our Schools Day," to promote music appreciation in the nation's schools.

Schafer's plans for the district's participation in the event cover the entire week of the 13th, including musical activities in each city as well as the schools. The Montclair Plaza will host performances by West End groups throughout the week, and the district has offered its programs to local service clubs.

Mizuno is currently ASB vice president at Upland High.

treasurer of Key Club and a member of CSF.

Both Miller and Mizuno will participate in a second debate on March 27 which will involve 40 students from 20 schools located throughout southern California. This final debate and dinner will host three winners, featuring prizes of $1000, $500 and $250.

March 3-7 growth campaign

Camp Fire Girls seek members

The Camp Fire Girls will conduct its annual membership growth campaign March 3-7. "Although girls are welcome to join any time, this is really the ideal time," says Lynn Armstrong, membership growth organizer. "I believe each girl needs Camp Fire. I think it is important the girls have something to be involved in."

The membership growth organizer works with a representative from each school in the area to promote the program and to arrange meetings to explain Camp Fire to the girls and their families.

Each school representative acts as an available source of information and encouragement for leaders in the school.

Camp Fire began in 1910 out of a growing awareness and concern for young girls' need for an organization to offer daily living educational and recreational programs. Camp Fire is designed to offer spiritual and ethical values, pride in women's traditional qualities, the practice of responsible citizenship, appreciation of nature, skill in outdoor living, self reliance and satisfaction in work.

Camp Fire offers programs for girls in grade school age through high school. For six to eight year olds there is blue birds, nine to 11 year olds have adventure, junior high school girls join discovery and high school girls join horizen. Each program is designed to meet the development, interests and abilities of each age group.

Camp Fire offers a wide variety of activities. Each summer there is resident camping at Camp Nawakwa in the San Bernardino Mountains, day camping at the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds in Pomona, a council wide folk dance festival and the candy sale. District events include group campouts, the Christmas Festival of Giving to make gifts for various charities, a mother-daughter dinner, a father-daughter outdoor day and individual group activities.

The group leaders receive training for their program levels and meet monthly for the District Leaders Association to get recent information and additional training. Each city in the district, including Ontario, Upland, Montclair, Chino, Alta Loma and Cucamonga, also has an area service team to assist leaders.

Camp Fire is changing from just a mother-daughter organization to include fathers. Bob Murray leads a group of adventure girls from Moreno School in Montclair; Bruce Wishard of Upland is an active member of the district leadership development committee. The district camping committee has six men, Roger Keith, Perry Westrope, Bob Bakman, Rocky Sment, Bob Mathews, and Bill Zanella.

For further information and membership registration call 624-5076.

The Filipino-American Flower Circle Association of Upland will present a Philippine fashion show and perform a bamboo folk dance 3 p.m. March 16 at the Chaffey Communities Cultural Center Museum, 525 W. 18th St., Upland.

Fashion highlights will include a hand-embroidered wedding gown of pina cloth (pineapple fruit fibers), a pants suit wedding outfit, and jewelry of heirloom gold, tamborine pearls and shells.

Bamboo dancers are Maria Cande, 13 years old and Joseph Cande, 11, of Upland; Rio Cabunoc, 12, of Cucamonga; and Vicki Faranel, 11, of Ontario.

Dressed as a princess and a bride, Francine Pala, 8, of Ontario, and Mari Vic Corpuz, 9, of Cucamonga, will model formal floor-length Terno gowns.

Their escorts, Patrick Pala, 6, of Ontario and Diomedes Cabunoc, 10, of Cucamonga, will wear formal Barong Tagalog attire.

Mrs. Robert Garner of Upland will narrate the fashion show. Rice cakes and fresh fruit punch will be served in an island setting.

No fee will be charged for the cultural event. Donations are tax-deductible and will be added to the museum building fund, according to Beatrice Riggs, cultural center president. For information call 986-8049.

PLAY MATERIALS — Jason Ford pours Shawn Horstmeyer a cup of tea in anticipation of a wooden play kitchen that will be constructed for the Upland Tiny Tots classes. Upland Junior Woman's Club President Roma Berger presents assistant recreation director Larry Thorn-

Spring applications due

Chaffey College is now accepting applications for admission to the spring quarter which extends from April 3 to June 20. New or former students are required to obtain their permit-to-register cards at the admissions office before they can register on March 25-26-27. The college has arranged for students in this category to start their admissions procedure early so that they may have a maximum scope of selection in class scheduling. "Early applicants will have the advantage of getting the classes of their choice," admissions dean David Hafiz said. The permit-to-register card is issued to a new or former student, enrolling for 12 or more units, only after he has completed these steps. —Filed an application for admission. This must be done in person. —Had transcripts of records sent to Chaffey College from last high school attended and from all colleges attended. More information on admissions procedures can be obtained at the admissions office or by calling either 987-1737 or 822-4484; more information on the English placement test from the counseling office by dialing the same numbers.

An outstanding educator and a noted columnist will be featured in the Chaffey College Founders' Day Convocation at 11 a.m. March 13.

The one-hour convocation will be in the little theater.

Mathematics professor Arthur E. Flum will be recognized as Citizen of the Year for his devotion to this college and to his community. Jack Smith, columnist for The Los Angeles Times since 1958, will be the convocation speaker.

Flum, regarded as a master teacher by his peers and students, was chairman of the physical science division here when he retired last June.

In numerous appearances before community gatherings over the years, Flum made a presentation that is something of a classic. The Flum presentation, that is something of a classic. The Flum presentation, "Mathematics and Faith," was an instant success with civic, service, church and social groups.

"Mathematics and Faith" is obviously a humanistic evaluation of an abstract subject. In the opinion of his colleagues, only one of Art Flum's heart, wisdom and reach could get that kind of topic across.

Other highlights on the Founders' Day program will be:

—Below Man's Vision: Electronic Windows to Unseen Worlds, a Smithsonian Institution display in the Rex W. Wignall Museum-Gallery.

—Light Breaks All Records in the Daniel B. Milliken Planetarium, 10-11 a.m.

—Alumni reception in the Museum-Gallery, 10-11 a.m.

—Traditional Founders' Day Luncheon in the cafeteria, 12-30

1:30 p.m. —Reunion of the Class of 1925 in the staff lounge, 1:45-3:30 p.m.

—Annual Historical Society meeting in Forum 7 (chaired by Mrs. Georgia Mellon), 2-4 p.m.

Deduct income during sickness

If you were absent from work last year because of sickness or injury and were paid by your employer during this period of enforced absence you may have an important tax saver known as sick pay exclusion.

Since it is an exclusion, meaning exempt from tax, it has a double-barreled effect. After the sick pay exclusion has been claimed, the remainder of the income can still be subject to the 15 per cent standard deduction, up to the maximum $2,000.

The amount of the exclusion depends upon the length of your absence of work and the percentage of your normal pay that you received.

If you received full pay, or anything in excess of 75 per cent of your normal pay, the exclusion becomes effective after a 30-day waiting period. After that, the amount excluded is the lesser of the pay received or $100 a week for each full week of absence.

Disabled retirees Dependent or not a dependent get tax windfall

Thousands of workers who have been forced into retirement by a disabling illness are eligible for a tax windfall under a landmark decision of Internal Revenue Service.

The decision, a reversal of a former long-standing position by IRS, permits disabled retirees to claim as a sick pay exclusion up to $100 a week in the benefits they have been receiving.

Those receiving disability retirement benefits in excess of $5,200 a year may exclude $5,200 as sick pay on their 1974 tax return.

Furthermore, they will be permitted to revise their tax returns for 1971, 1972 and 1973 and claim exclusion of up to $5,200 in each of those years in which they received disability pay. This could result in substantial refunds from the earlier three years. The deadline for making the claim for refund on 1971 tax is April 15, 1975, three years after the deadline for filing the return.

In the past IRS took the position that if there was a provision for early retirement in the pension program, a sick pay exclusion could not be taken for any period after the early retirement date.

If the pension plan does not specify a mandatory retirement, IRS considers 65 to be that date.

Take the case of an employee forced to retire at age 58, after 35 years of service, because of a heart attack, emphysema, or some other crippling illness.

Until he is 65, he will now be able to exclude from income up to $5,200 a year, treating it as sick pay. At age 65 the retirement benefits will come under normal pension benefit rules. In filing amended returns use Form 1040X. This is the suggested language to be used on the form in stating your reason for the refund claim:

"Taxpayer, a disabled employee, is entitled to sick pay exclusion under Section 105 (d) for his disability retirement payments, even though he is also eligible for regular retirement."

Once children reach the age of 19 sticky questions arise over the right of parents to claim them as dependents on their income tax return.

For children who were not yet 19 by Dec. 31, 1974, there is no limit on their income and parents may claim them as dependents so long as the parents furnish chief support.

Once they reach 19 there is a Cigarette smoking is a healthy heart no-no. Ask your local Heart Association.

$750 income limitation unless the son or daughter attended school for at least five months of the year. For students, the income limitation is removed, but the element of chief support remains.

This immediately brings on the question of how much a college-age son or daughter can earn and still be claimed as a dependent.

There is no firm answer. It could be one amount for a high school student, and a considerably higher amount for a college student. An income of $1,500 might be enough to disqualify a student commuting to a state college from being a dependent. And a $2,500 income might not be too high to disqualify a student at a high-tuition college where the total expenses are paid by the parents.

The all-important consideration is how much did the student furnish toward his support from his own funds and how much did the parents furnish from their funds. The one with the higher total furnished chief support.

It is not required that the student give his parents any of his earnings. Whatever he spent himself from his own funds goes into his tabulation.

Support includes expenditures for food, shelter, clothing, education, medical and dental care, recreation, transportation, the cost of gifts and other goods furnished, money given for hair cuts, music lessons and the like. It does not include life insurance premiums or the purchase of a capital item such as an automobile, motorcycle or motorbike. But neither does the purchase of a capital item by your child enter into his tabulation of money spent toward his support.

One remedy is to have your working son or daughter deposit as much of the earnings as possible in a savings account. Money saved cannot be spent and this eases your test of chief support.

Retirement plan would provide healthy savings

A worker with a modest income will be able to provide a monthly retirement benefit of $726 for life if he takes advantage of the new pension law. The $726 check will be in addition to his Social Security check.

This is the impact of the Individual Retirement Account (IRA) provided by the Pension Reform Act of 1974.

It affects every American worker not now covered by a pension plan or an organized retirement system.

The law permits him to set aside up to $1,500 a year in a special fund. The amount saved in this fashion is fully deductible on his income tax return. And the interest or other earnings on the set aside funds are not taxed until after retirement.

To illustrate the workings of the new benefit, here is a case history of an employee earning about $12,000 a year from a company which has no pension program.

The worker signs up for an IRA account with his bank, thrift institution or a brokerage firm that will design an investment program for him. He puts the maximum of $1,500 a year into his account until he retires at 65.

Assuming that the man is now 40 years old and that his savings will earn an annual interest of six per cent, he will have accumulated $87,234 in 25 years.

If the worker lived to his normal life expectancy of 80 years he would receive a total of $130,845 after having saved a total of only $37,500.

It could be the savings opportunity of a lifetime which could change total life styles of a generation of future retirees.

Medical deductions diminish

With an increasing number of employers paying most, if not all, of the cost of health insurance programs, the likelihood of a medical deduction on your income tax return is being diminished.

Yet for those with excessive medical expenses and little or no insurance protection there is still the possibility of substantial tax relief. It must be greater than 3 per cent of their adjusted gross income before any deduction is possible. For example, if adjusted gross income is $20,000 medical expenses must be more than $600 before there is a deduction. And then the deduction is limited to the excess beyond the $600 figure.

For most persons adjusted gross income is simply their reportable income for the year. The cost of prescriptions is taken into the tabulation to the extent they exceed 1 per cent of adjusted gross income. In the $20,000 example, this would mean prescription costs beyond $200 would be considered.

An exception to the 3 per cent and 1 per cent rules is the cost of hospital and health insurance programs. Half of the amount paid for such insurance, to a maximum of $150, is immediately deductible.

This applies only to aid with your own funds. If your employer pays for the insurance as an employee benefit, you have no deduction. If you and the employer share the cost, you may deduct only half the portion for which you pay.

Requirements upped

New reflector rules for bikes

Unless your bicycle has reflectors on the rear, both sides and in front, you are riding outside of the law, according to the California Highway Patrol.

A new law which took effect Jan. 1 upgraded reflector requirements for bicycles.

"The new safety provisions were necessary because the increased popularity of bicycle riding has been accompanied by more bicycle accidents," said

Captain D.A. Kipp of the San Bernardino office of the CHP.

The new law requires a white reflector on the front of a bike, a white or yellow reflector on each side, forward of the center of the bicycle; a white or red reflector on each side, to the rear of the center; and a red reflector to the rear.

In addition, if a bicycle is ridden at night, it must also be equipped with a white light on the front, visible for 300 feet.

Bishop speaks at Methodist conference

Women's role in church examined

By Lynne Locke

The church "must accelerate the pace of action" to bring equality to women, stated Charles Golden, bishop of the Southern California-Arizona Conference of the United Methodist Church.

Golden gave the opening address Friday at the "Consultation on Women in Leadership and Professional Roles in the United Methodist Church, Southern California-Arizona Conference."

The two-day consultation, held at Claremont United Methodist Church, was sponsored by the Association for Women's Affairs of the School of Theology at Claremont, and the Commission on the Status and Role of Woman and the United Methodist Women of the Southern California-Arizona Conference.

Golden said women have been "at the heart of the kingdom of God movement" making major contributions to the work, witness and life of the church.

But women have not been represented in decision-making bodies of the church except in areas established especially for women, he noted.

Legal bars to women participating in church leadership have been removed, but acceptance of women is not wide enough, Golden said. "That has to change. Your sex is not at stake. Your humanity is," he told the consultation.

Golden noted that women are not a true minority and could "move meaningfully into the mainstream of the church" if they organized.

"Your situation is a situation you as much as anyone else have made" by accepting and cooperating with demeaning treatment of women, he commented.

Golden said women must be "guinea pigs in positions of high visibility. I would like to see a number of women strategically spotted in conference and district meetings and annual conference, so the conference and the church become aware of where we are."

"We must create a climate so women will be accepted and be able to serve wherever they are sent," he stated.

Last year conference youth commented that there are Hispanic, Asian and Black district superintendents and asked when Golden will appoint a woman district superintendent. Lay members must keep asking those questions, Golden said. Eight women serve in high positions in the conference, four as presidents of conference agencies. Golden noted that all but one is Anglo and warned that women must not leave minority women out of the decision-making.

Presently three ordained women are full members of the Southern California-Arizona Conference, six are probationary members and one is an associate member. There are also two women serving as lay pastors and 18 deaconesses under appointment.

Golden said there are problems in appointing women ministers to churches. But, he added, "I can't recall a single year we didn't have problems making appointments when we were dealing with all men."

One problem is finding church positions when both husband and wife are ordained. Solutions include the couple serving the same church or churches in neighboring communities.

"I look forward to the time when nearby churches will request teams of married clergypersons," Golden said.

Other problems include pensions, which until recently were limited to one per family, and sick and maternity leaves.

Women United set World Day of Prayer

The Bonita Unit of Church Women United will join with women in 169 countries to celebrate the 89th World Day of Prayer March 7.

The general chairman of the day is Mrs. John W. Flucke who announced the following schedule of local services:

—Good Shepherd Lutheran Church at 10 a.m., 1700 N. Towne Ave., Claremont; chairman, Dr. Mildred Winston; speaker, Mrs. H. B. Amstutz; soloist, Virginia Rostvold with Barbara Moore as organist. Child care provided.

—Claremont Manor at 10 a.m., 650 W. Harrison Ave., Claremont; chairman, Mrs. Peter J. Jansen; speaker, Dr. Gerturde Feely.

—Hillhaven Convalescent Hospital, 10 a.m., 590 S. Indian Hill Blvd., Claremont; chairman, Mrs. Josiah V. Roth; speaker, Mrs. Samuel R. Burgoyne; soloist, Carol Young.

—Mt. San Antonio Gardens Medical Unit, 9:00 E. Harrison Ave., Claremont; chairman, Mrs. Carl A. Hansen.

—Bonita Avenue Church, 10 a.m., 2400 Bonita Ave., La Verne; chairman, Mrs. Robert Luton; speaker, Mrs. Samuel R. Burgoyne; soloist, Carol Young.

—Hillcrest Homes, 3 p.m., 2700 Magnolia Ave., La Verne;

chairman, Helen Forney.

—United Methodist Church, 10 a.m., 114 W. Second St., San Dimas; chairman, Muriel Moore; speaker, Mrs. Frank Tishkins.

—San Dimas Retirement Center, 834 W. Arrow Highway; chairman, Royal Garrison.

The offering will be used to support programs of the Intercontinental Mission through which Church Women United participates in a

You Can't "Wear Off" A Catch In The Back

By DR. W. P. HELZER, D.C.

It is not a rare occasion that you meet another individual who seems to be favoring a shoulder or who sits or walks "carefully" in a semihunched over position.

They complain of a "catch" in the back.

If you suggest they seek professional care for their problem they claim it will go away.

"It will 'wear off'", one such person put it. You can't just "wear off" a rheumatic pain, any more than you can expect a car frame to straighten out by itself after an accident.

You must treat the cause of pain to eliminate it. What causes these pains?

Falls, jars, or twists may cause the bones in your back to slip slightly out of place and irritate the nerves passing out between them. This is the basic cause of pains through the lower back and hips. The irritation in the nerve is always present, but the pain becomes noticeable when there is an alteration in the blood due to weather changes, colds, flu, or some infection in the body. A slight injury may also affect the already sick nerve.

Unless the bony misalignments are corrected by Chiropractic adjustments, or an accidental adjustment, the condition may progress into sciatica, various forms of paralysis, or some organic disturbance, even though the pain may not be present constantly to warn you.

(Note: More than 700 leading insurance companies recognize claims for modern care such as that available at our office for specialized treatment for back pains as described above.)

(Note: Dr. Helzer maintains chiropractic offices at 108 East H Street, Ontario, telephone: 983-1711.)

Bill would compensate for zoning

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Property owners whose land is devalued as a result of city or county down zoning may receive protection under legislation introduced by Assemblyman Bob Wilson, D-La Mesa.

In introducing the bill, Wilson said, "There is presently no law requiring that owners of real property be compensated for decreases in the fair market value of their property due to zoning changes. My bill would require a city, county, or city and county to compensate the owners of real property for the amount of decrease in the fair market value caused by down zoning. Under Wilson's bill, the property owners would be required to file a claim with the appropriate agency in order to be eligible to collect

Here is a selection of herbs in a strawberry jar, a refreshing outdoor decoration. Most herbs are as nice to look at as they are to eat.

Herb gardeners happy, thrifty

Among the world's happiest and thrichest gardeners are those who grow their own vegetables and herbs. Certainly there are non who derive more lasting pleasure from their gardening. Added to the satisfaction of making something grow is the joy of cooking with garden fresh produce.

With only an apartment window box to garden in, you can sample some of this pleasure. With a plot 10 x 15 feet, you can really indulge yourself. Your nurseryman can help you plan a vegetable garden and start you off on the right foot — unless you are aware of the local adaptability of various vegetables.

Vegetables commonly grown from seed include beans, peas, beets, carrots, chard, cucumber, corn, squash and radishes. Nurseries may offer seedling transplants of tomatoes, parsley, lettuce, peppers, egg plant, celery, broccoli, brussel sprouts, cabbage and cauliflower. Some of the latter are cool season crops and won't be available in all areas at this time. Likewise some of the frost tender vegetables transplants will not be available in cooler climates until warmer weather.

Onions may be started from seed or from onion sets. For large onions, sets are more convenient than seed, giving you the expected harvests sooner.

When it comes to herbs, your nursery will have most of the favorites available already started, or if you wish, you can grow any of them from seed. A basic list of herbs should include basil, rosemary, thyme, oregano, marjoram and chives.

Grow herbs in the garden or in pots on the patio — near the outdoor living area and the barbecue. Growing a small collection of herbs in pots on a sunny window ledge above the kitchen sink has proven their adaptability indoors. By growing the plants in containers, apartment dwellers and residents of mobile homes can enjoy the fun of gardening and thrill to fresh taste treats.

Some vegetables, such as tomatoes, can be grown in tubs for up-close gardening enjoyment on the porch or patio. Provide plenty of sun and water and the plants will yield bountiful rewards for the entire family's pleasure.

Keep color on parade

A quick look at the garden in the coming weeks may lull you into a sense of complacency. Spring bulbs and other seasonal color bearers are approaching their peak and nothing can compare with them. After this, then what?

If you haven't planned for perpetuating beauty, with fall and early winter plantings, you need not despair. Bedding plants — flowering annuals and perennials — stand ready to keep the color parade going into the warm season.

Perennials, with proper use, are a challenge, making gardening all the more enjoyable. They have the advantage of permanence — or relative permanence — and need only be cut back after bloom and left to come again, next year.

The challenge in their growing lies in putting them to the proper use. Perennials, depending on the variety, fit into foregrounds or backgrounds, spotted in the border or squeezed into pocket-size beds.

Dormant spraying

During the winter season in California, dormant spraying should near the top of the list of the gardener's checklist of things to do. Some of the worst garden pests are best attacked during their mid-winter dormant period.

Dormant spraying is necessary for the control of such diseases as mildew, rust and black spot on roses. It is important in battling such insect pests as mites, scale and certain species of aphids. Dormant spraying is vital in controlling the fungus which causes peach leaf curl. In fact, the only way this disease may be controlled is by winter spraying.

The California Association of Nurserymen recommends winter dormant spraying on roses — at the time of pruning, mid-January to mid-February — and a late-winter spraying on stone fruits such as peaches, nectarines and apricots — just before the buds open. Other shrubs may be sprayed at any time between late fall and spring.

An early dormant spray should be applied to peach trees, especially those where peach leaf curl has been evident. Then in late winter, just as the buds swell and start to open, a second dormant spray should follow.

A combination of two sprays, an oil spray and a fungicide, has proven very effective in controlling hibernating winter pests. Dormant sprays are safe to use and the winter spraying isn't a difficult chore. Your nurseryman can outline procedures and recommend a specific spray for this all-important clean-up job. Always read the instructions on the label of any plant protection chemical.

When spraying, thoroughly cover all the plant. Pests overwinter in bark surfaces and the tiniest of cracks, and in the soil as well. Saturate the soil around the base of the plants as you complete the job. Spray on a windless day, when temperatures aren't high. Try to avoid spraying just ahead of any rain — you should have a few hours of good (drying) weather after spraying.

Gardener's checklist

1. Start thinking about potted shrubs and trees for the outdoor living area. Tubed marguerites — in dazzling white and yellow colors — make colorful decorations for months on end, with their daisy-like flowers.

2. Plant daylilies now for summer bloom. They thrive in sun and highlight borders with plentiful color.

3. March is a good month to plant a new lawn — or renovate an old one. Your nurseryman can outline procedures to follow to assure best results.

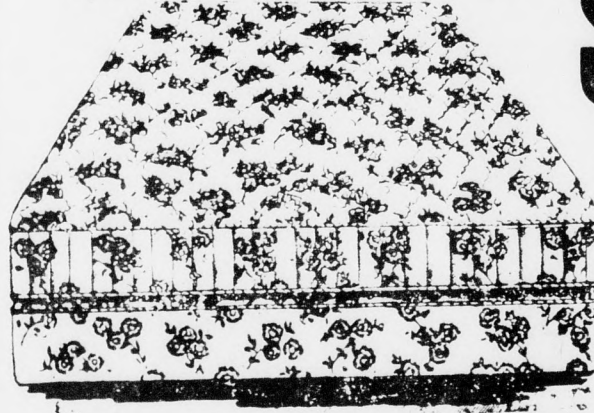

4. As danger of frost passes, plant an avocado tree for shade and fruit. It makes an excellent evergreen shade tree even in areas where the fruit does not set well. Nurseries have the varieties best for local climate.

Delightfully different

Astound guests with torte

It's your turn to entertain, and you want to give an exciting, yet out-of-the-ordinary party — fun but inexpensive and easy on the hostess/cook (you!). What's more, you want to entertain more people than you can seat for dinner — and yet you want to avoid those "budget-smashing" cocktail parties.

A coffee and dessert party fills the bill in every way. Dessert parties can be outlandishly elegant or comfortably casual; you can serve crepes suzette or make your-own sundaes — whatever comes naturally to you. Fresh California grapes can help to suit the food to the mood — they can be dressed up for ultra-elegance or served au naturel. For a bit of elegance, astound your guests with French Grape Torte. It will leave your guests applauding and they'll never know how surprisingly simple it is to make. Using frozen puff pastry shells, cooked beforehand, you can quickly assemble the torte just before serving. With a spirited coffee alongside, it's a formula for sure success.

Or, for informal out-of-hand eating, serve clusters of crisp, California grapes complemented with a platter of cheeses. Your guests can mix 'n match the new grape varieties with different types of natural cheeses — simple yet satisfying.

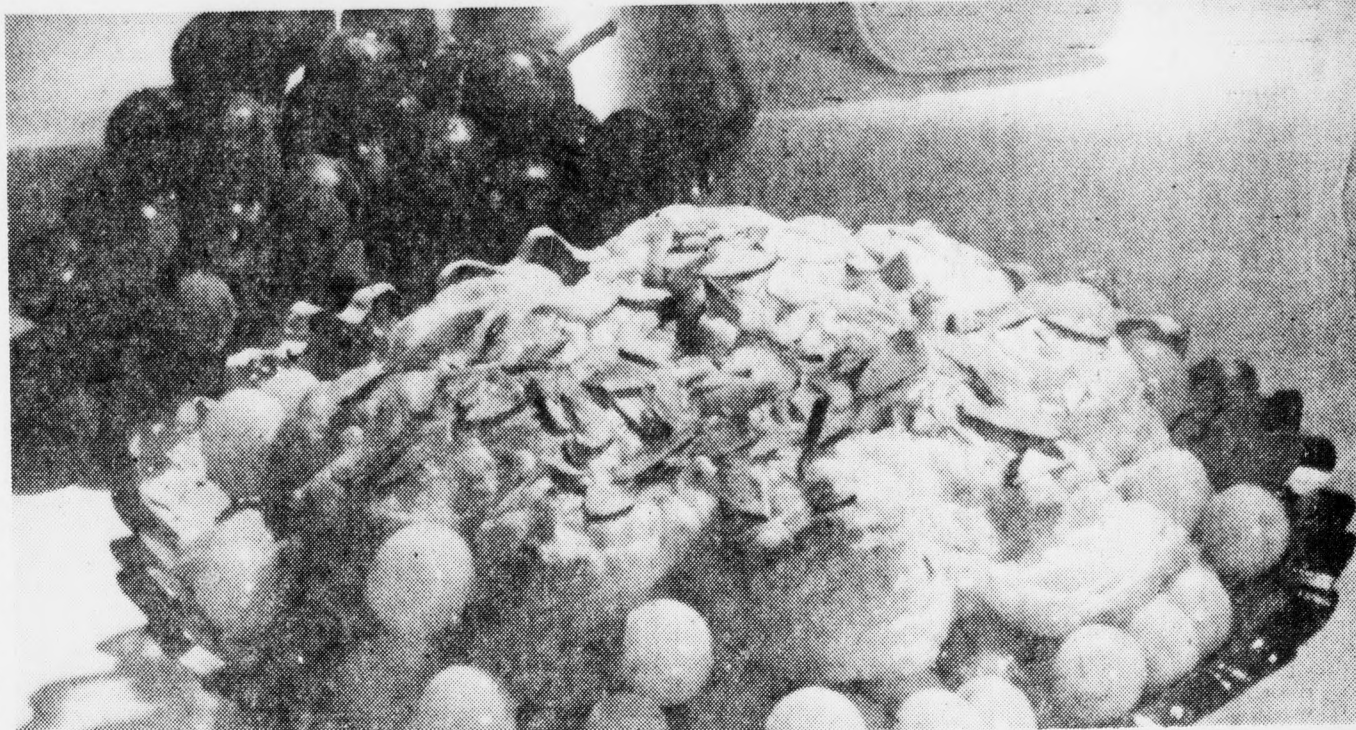

Right now you'll find a bountiful array of grapes to grace your table — flame-colored reds, blue blacks and frosty greens — all from California. For your cheese platters and fancy desserts, choose plump, well-colored grapes that are firmly attached to pliable green stems. Because California grapes are harvested at their optimum sugar content and, therefore, do not "ripen" upon standing, you'll want to select the very best quality you can.

French Grape Torte
1 package (10 ounces) frozen puff shells
2 tablespoons sliced almonds
1 cup orange marmalade
1 pound (3 cups) California seedless grapes, pulled from stem (if seeded varieties are used, halve and seed)

Remove 4 puff shells from package. Thaw at room temperature ½ hour. Flatten each, to make 4-inch circles. Stack the 4 circles, moisten lightly, and roll out to a 9 inch circle. Press the nuts into surface. Crimp edge. Place on baking sheet. Return to freezer for ½ hour. Preheat oven to 450 degrees. Bake 20 to 25 minutes. Remove to rack; cool. At serving time, heat marmalade in saucepan. Stir in grapes and heat through. Pour grapes into a serving dish. Place pastry on top. Serve at once, cutting into wedges with sharp knife, and spooning grapes and marmalade over wedges. Makes 6 servings.

French Grape Torte stars at a "Come for Coffee and Dessert Party" and it makes family meals special, too. It will leave guests applauding and they'll never know how surprisingly simple it is to make.

Sausage tart dish

Apples are always in season and are among our most versatile fruits. Apples and pork have been a favorite combination in many countries since the tart-sweet flavor of the fruit is a perfect complement for the meat. For an even slightly different approach combine apples and sausage and spice this with curry powder for an Apple-Sausage Curry. Serve with bread or over steamed rice.

Apple-Sausage Curry
1 pound pork link sausages
1 cup water
1 10 1/2 ounce can chicken-rice soup
1 cup milk
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 teaspoon curry powder
2 tablespoons water
1/4 teaspoon sugar
3 apples, cored, pared and cut into chunks

Heat skillet to 350 degrees and brown sausage, pouring off fat as it accumulates. Add water, return to simmer and blend in chicken soup. When soup begins to bubble, reduce heat and simmer, covered, about 5 minutes. Combine cold milk with cornstarch, curry powder, water and sugar to form a thin paste. Stir into soup mixture and bring to a boil. Add apple chunks and simmer, covered, about 5 to 10 minutes or until tender. Serve over crusty French bread, steamed rice or English muffin. Makes 4 to 6 servings.
